Why do AEC Executives love this program?

"We found Communication, Coaching, & Leadership for AEC Project Managers to be very helpful and we were able to implement many things right away that are having a positive effect. For example, the section on emotional intelligence took our feelings about what is right, what is wrong, and how people should be treated and put that all into a package to give us a practical and structured approach that we can communicate and build into our management philosophy..."

YOUR COACHES

Jonathan Wilson

PSMJ Resources Senior Consultant

PSMJ Resources Senior Consultant Jonathan Wilson is an AEC professional service training and development instructor, a keynote speaker, and a leadership and culture coach. He frequently writes, speaks, and consults on culture and leadership in the modern architecture and engineering workplace. His first book, Future Leader: Rebooting Leadership to Win the Millennial and Tech Future, helps leaders better steer their organizations in this time of rapid generational and technological change.

He brings more than 15 years of experience managing challenging AEC projects from both the consultant and client sides of the table. As a seasoned aviation professional, Jonathan hired and led numerous architecture, engineering, and construction management project teams to fulfill a multi-million-dollar aviation capital program. First as a client-side project manager and then as a program manager, Jonathan organized and led diverse teams of planning, civil engineering, structural engineering, MEP engineering, architecture, landscape architecture, survey, and construction management professionals on projects ranging from $1,000 to more than $10 million.

Jonathan founded the aviation division inside of KPG, an established 115-person Seattle-based interdisciplinary professional services firm. In that role, he and his project teams completed numerous planning, survey, civil engineering, architecture, and landscape architecture projects.

Bill Hinsley

PSMJ Resources Senior Consultant

PSMJ Resources Senior Consultant Bill Hinsley knows that project management is where ultimate A/E/C firm success is generated, and he has become one of PSMJ's most popular Project Management instructors. He has trained more than 8,000 PMs and Principals across the globe, conducted dozens of in-house classes for AEC firms that need more customization and specialization in their training, and developed tailored PM training models for each client from two-day bootcamps to four-hour training sessions and live online training.

Bill served as Associate Vice President of renowned international firms ARCADIS and Atkins where he spearheaded $1 million to $11 billion projects. With extensive project management experience in the planning, engineering, procurement, and management of large civil works projects, Bill has served as Senior Project Manager, Principal PM, and Principal-in-Charge. He has had success in many different areas including business development, leadership training, branch office optimization, and strategic planning and growth.
